

Willie Connell Gives Life For His Country

Once more Redcliff is called upon to mourn the loss of one of her brave young sons who has given his life for his country. This time it is Willie Connell, a young Scotchman, who made his home here for some time previous to enlisting. Connell joined the 13th battalion in connection with the 6th battalion, but on arriving in England was rejected on account of teeth. Those he got fixed and he then became attached to another battalion and went to the front.

While here deceased was employed in the foundry of the Ornamental Iron works. Although a quiet, unassuming lad he soon won his way into the hearts of all those with whom he came in contact. He was a good, honest man and was a valued member of the football team. He also took a great interest in the band and was at one time its leader.

We knew Willie Connell personally and had always looked upon him as one of the very best young men in town. His every word and action reflected a thorough home training which he never forgot. To us his untimely death means the loss of an esteemed friend.

Lord Grey's Reply Appears Conclusive

United States papers admit the conclusiveness of the reply of the British foreign minister to the protest of the United States government against the inclusion of names of firms domiciled in the United States in the enemy blacklist issued by the British government. The Washington correspondent of the New York Times, writes:

It is semi-officially admitted here that the note will be a difficult one for the American government to challenge. There will probably be a response, but, in the American reply, it is intimated from a violation of international law. It is virtually admitted that the defence made by Viscount Grey of the legal right of the British government to forbid its subjects to deal with any firms that trade with the enemies of Great Britain is unassailable from the standpoint of international law.

"The indications are that in the response to be made by the British government, modification of the blacklist policy, far as it affects firms domiciled in this country, will be urged on the broader ground of international comity rather than under international law, and it will be argued that while the British government has a right to refuse to allow citizens to deal with firms abroad that deal with the enemy, nevertheless the effect of the British blacklist on certain American firms has had the effect of preventing their neutral dealing with these firms through fear of being themselves blacklisted."

Bulgarian Treachery To Be Punished

A firmly worded announcement that the Russian government has set for itself the task of punishing Bulgaria for her "ingratitude and treachery" is turning against her not only and protector, Russia, appears in a semi-official communication. "Russia is firmly resolved," says the communication, "to punish the perpetrators of the Bulgarian government who treacherously allied their country with the enemies of her ally and protector, who gave her political existence and suffered so many sacrifices for her. Russia will not desert herself bound to wreak vengeance on the defenceless Bulgarian population, but Bulgaria as a sovereign unit will be held responsible for this unjustified crime."

Motion to Conserve National Food Supply

The British house of commons, without division, carried the resolution introduced by Wm. A. S. Hewitt, the Unionist member for Hereford, prior to the statement on the question of food supply by Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade. The resolution follows:

"In the opinion of the house it is the duty of the government to adopt further methods of organization to increase and conserve the national food supply, and to diminish the risk of shortage and serious increase of prices in the event of the war being prolonged."

Redcliff Ex-Councillor Is Among Wounded

Mrs. R. S. Holge received word from the department of militia yesterday stating that her husband had been wounded in the hand and eye. The hospital suffering from a serious illness. The message was forwarded that further particulars would follow, but as it was not possible to get word from the hospital, it was not possible to get word from the hospital.

Mrs. Holge was among the first settlers in this town and as he always took a keen interest in the town's affairs was well known by our citizens. On two different occasions he was elected to the council, and at the time of his election was president of the local Liberal association.

"Dick," as he is familiarly known, enlisted with the 5th battalion, and went overseas with that contingent. He has been in the trenches for some time and until now escaped any serious injury.

His many friends here regret to learn of his misfortune and trust he may soon recover from his illness.

Serbian Once More Have a Capital

After having been for months without a country, the Serbians are again to establish their capital on native soil. Monastir, for which the extensive forces have been struggling since the advance from their base at Salonika, has been evacuated by the German and Bulgarian forces under pressure and occupied by the French and Serbians.

The French and Serbians having surrounded the valley town, the Germans found their position untenable and withdrew, according to reports, to a new position in the north of Monastir. Unofficial advisers from Salonika say that a temporary capital for Serbia will be immediately established at Monastir. With the occupation of Monastir the railway line from the allied base at Salonika now in extensive hands. The enemy's only route of retreat was along the road to the allied base at Salonika, which was in the hands of the Serbians, and in this direction they are now in a position to advance.

The capture of Monastir is one of the most brilliant movements of the war. Even the allies' staff in the Balkans apparently did not expect the city to be taken before the spring. An allied general with the Bulgarian forces had stated it was beyond their power for it to fall before winter set in.

England Starts on Food Regulations

The board of trade has begun speedily under the new food control regulations. Two orders have been issued which will come into effect on November 27th, dealing with wheat and milk. One regulates the sale of wheat and wheat products, and the other deals with milk, varying for the different qualities from 70 to 78 per cent, and stipulates that after January 1st only four made in accordance with this schedule may be used for the making of bread or other articles of food.

The milk order fixed a maximum price, not exceeding the price which prevailed on November 15th, or alternatively that the price may not exceed by more than a specified amount the price which prevailed at the corresponding month before the war, this amount being twopence per quart. This order makes the maximum price approximately sixpence per quart. The order does not apply to condensed or dried milk, or milk preparations.

Britain May Stop Making of Liquor

A motion that the manufacture of alcoholic liquor in Great Britain should be prohibited will be made in the house of commons, according to notice given by a group of members after the speech of Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade, on the food situation. The members of the group, their notice stated, will move that the prohibition should be imposed in view of Mr. Runciman's grave statement respecting the shortage of corn, sugar and other foodstuffs.

DOMINION HARVESTER OF FOUNDRY MOVES PLANT HERE

Amalgamated With New Company Which Took Over
Motor Factory Recently--Machinery Now Being Moved
--Will Start on Big Shell Order as Soon as Machinery
Is Installed--Will Have 75 Men at Work All Winter.

WILL ERECT LARGE ADDITION TO PLANT HERE AT ONCE.

Addition to Be 40x80 and Will Be Used as Foundry--Will Manufacture Farm Implements When Shell Order Is Finished--Thirty New Families Moving to Town--The Entire Staff Have Been Engaged.

The company which recently took over the control of the old Motor Truck factory is losing no time in their endeavor to get the machinery in motion at the earliest possible moment.

Already a gang of men are busy at work re-arranging the machinery at present in this plant and making room for four car loads of additional machinery which is to be installed at once.

The Dominion Harvester Company, which has had a plant in operation in Medicine Hat, has amalgamated with this new company, and the newly organized firm will be known as the Canadian Foundry & Machine Company, of Redcliff. The machinery previously used in the Medicine Hat plant is now being loaded on cars to be shipped up to the plant here and this work is being rushed through with all possible speed. It is expected that enough of this machinery will be in place in the plant here to start operations within the next fifteen days.

Already the new company has a large order from the government for shells and they expect to be able to start making these goods inside of the next three weeks.

It is also the intention of the new company to commence at once the erection of a large addition to the present plant. This addition will be 40x80 and will parallel the present building on the west side. It was the original intention to have this addition of brick, to be used as a foundry, and run in conjunction with this plant in other work which is to be undertaken when the shell order is completed. On account of weather conditions, however, and the urgent necessity for the use of this addition to the plant, it will be built of lightest galvanized iron for the present. As soon as this building is completed work on a rush order for two hundred tons of castings will be commenced.

Concurrent with the work of making shells other work will be in progress getting the buildings in shape for manufacturing a line of farm implements which will be the regular line of goods this plant will manufacture.

Reindeer novices the machinery from the Medicine Hat plant up here there will be in the neighborhood of thirty families come with it from the Hat. This is a demand for houses and already a number of the previously vacant ones are being occupied.

Mr. Ratliff, who is in charge of the arrangements, assured the reviewer that the new plant will furnish employment for at least seventy-five men all winter, and the number will be increased from time to time as the plant develops.

Former Redcliff Girl Wins Gold Medal

At an oratorical contest held in the Normal school at Camrose, Miss Pearl Banks won the gold medal which was the first prize for the contest. In its write-up of the contest the Camrose paper says:

"Miss Banks is to be congratulated on her pleasing and unassuming manner as well as her aptitude for presenting a difficult subject in a clear, concise and interesting way. She skillfully delivered her speech under a number of headings and at the close seemed them up in a fine, satisfying style which was at once intelligible and pleasing to the audience and won the approval of the judges."

Miss Banks is a former Redcliff lady and she is well known here. We understand it is her intention to return here with her parents to reside.

British Food Control Popular With People

No other government action in Great Britain during the war has commanded such immediate and almost unanimous support as has the decision to control food supplies. Virtually the entire press welcomes the scheme. Almost the only criticism expressed is that the authorities should have taken charge of the nation's food supply long ago.

The Statist pointed out that the more advanced socialism immediately to the fact that a majority of the population is living lavishly.

The difficulties of handling such a vast and complicated problem in a country unused to paternalistic methods are not under-estimated. The regulation of the population on the German system appears as yet improbable. Arrangements already are being made between the board of trade and the board of agriculture for controlling the prices of stocks. The distribution of the most important commodities, corn, meat and potatoes, is already partially regulated, as is also that of sugar.

Patriotic Fund Meeting Next Saturday

As our readers are no doubt well aware, there is at present an effort being put forth to have a systematic canvass of this province for the patriotic fund. To simplify matters each provincial constituency in the province is expected to properly organize itself for this purpose. With this object in view a meeting for Redcliff constituency was held in Alderson some time ago when a central committee for organization work was instituted. On that occasion Mayor Butt and W. H. Hatcher of this town were chosen as representatives from this district on that committee.

The next move now is for each district within the constituency to get organized. In order that this may be done and work commenced as soon as possible, a meeting will be held in Crowe's hall on Saturday evening next, Nov. 25th.

As this meeting will be to organize the surrounding country as well as the town, it is hoped there will be a good representation of farmers. The constituency of Redcliff is expected to raise $5,000 as its share to this fund. When it is remembered that there is probably no other section of the province which has been more fortunate in the past two years, there should be little trouble raising this amount. Already other districts have this work well under way and they are meeting with most encouraging success.

The Redcliff district surely does not want to be found shirking its share. Let us then see to it that there is a good turnout at the meeting and that we all enter enthusiastically into the work.

Norway Prepares For Food Shortage

The royal preparations of Norway have unanimously decided that the government ought to be instituted to meet the food situation, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company, quoting the Norwegian food minister.

At a meeting in Christiania, the minister stated that a great question was at issue as to whether the population of Norway should be put on a "short food allowance." The minister added that neighboring neutral countries were organizing themselves as they were participating in the war, and that Sweden the German food system for grain and flour would be introduced.

The liners Victoria and Unstail the last vessels to leave Nome, Alaska arrived in Seattle with 900 passengers $1,000,000 in gold bullion, and shipment of its ore and furs. Fifteen hundred people are wintering at Nome, which now is closed in by the ice.

Farmer Organizations Are Amalgamated

The first step towards an amalgamation of two of the most important western farming organizations of western Canada was taken when a standing vote to evaluate their unanimity of opinion, the 200 delegates to the annual meeting of the Alberta Farmers' Co-operative Elevator Company adopted the plan brought forward by the Grain Growers' Grain Company, and the board of directors for an amalgamation of the Alberta Farmers' Co-operative Elevator Company, Limited, and the Grain Growers' Grain Company.

The scheme has been worked out in conference with the representatives of the grain growers and has been undoubtedly approved by that organization when submitted to its annual meeting at Winnipeg, Nov. 25th.

It now goes to the shareholders of the elevator company for ratification, at the meetings of the various locals. It must receive a majority vote of the shares voted to carry.

In addition to the two companies mentioned forward by the Grain Growers' Association and the United Farmers' Association of Alberta will be invited to enter into closely federated relations with the consolidated companies. These organizations are not incorporated companies but economic associations, but their large membership and wide-reaching influence will make them important factors in the new amalgamation if they consent to become affiliated.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Sissons returned to town last Tuesday morning from the honeymoon and will reside here in future.

Mrs. Crooks and family who have been visiting at McLeod for the past two weeks, returned home yesterday.

There is a movement on foot to try and organize a skating rink here this winter. A meeting for this purpose will be held at J. J. Fairbairn's store next Tuesday evening.

Mr. Alf, Lund who lived on First street, was married at Plymouth, England, on October 15th. He is now in training with the 13th December regiment, and expects soon to be at the battle front.

The W. A. of St. Ambrose church will hold their annual sale of fancy work and home made cooking in Alder Hall, Thursday afternoon, when refreshments will also be served. In the evening there will be a musical program rendered, after which the day's program will be brought to a close with a dance.

On the invitation of the St. Ambrose W. A. the annual meeting of the association for the rural dairy and a meeting of the St. Ambrose church here last Monday and Tuesday. There was a good attendance and the meeting was most successful. We are unable to give a full report of the meeting this week but will do so in our next issue.

SOLDIERS WIVES TO VOTE FOR THEM.

It is understood that ministers are carrying out Mr. Asquith's promise that they would give "serious" and sympathetic attention to the question of enabling soldiers and sailors to record their votes. They have, however, not yet come to a final decision. The proposal that men should actually record their votes at the front would be a most interesting character. Consideration is being given in government circles to an alternative scheme of a new voting system, whereby, that soldiers and sailors on active service should be given the right to vote by proxy. In that event, a fighting man would be represented, in accordance with his wishes, in his constituency at large, by a person nominated by him—possibly his wife.

PROMISING OUTLOOK.

The announcement this week of further industrial developments in town will be good news to our readers, and will be a partial fulfillment at least of the oft repeated predictions in these columns: that the young town was bound to come back, and be among the first to recover from the set back caused by the war. We know very well that there are those in our midst who have sneeringly taken a poke at the Review for its unflattering optimism through the lean years as well as when times were more promising, but to us it had the same effect as pouring water on a duck's back. Even if it were a crime to be optimistic, we would plead guilty to the charge. We would much rather be charged with an over dose of that, and lend our energies to help bring about a realization of our hopes, than be a pessimist and do or say nothing of an encouraging nature.

However, be that as it may, there is every indication now that we are getting away from a good start for a lively winter. We have had a good summer, a better fall, and hope for a still better winter.

The Rolling Mills and Glass Plant which have been working night and day all summer, are still going strong and can't keep up with the orders coming in. The Brick & Coal Company has been giving employment to a number of men all along and are now adding to the coal mine staff almost every day.

All this, together with the prospective development announce this week, prompts us to venture the remark that the outlook is promising.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

The year just drawing to a close has been a very quiet one in municipal affairs, at least as far as Redcliff is concerned. We have had no investigations, little or no fault finding or agitations, and no unpleasantness among the councillors themselves. It is only natural. Therefore, even with election day only a few weeks off, that there is very little excitement in municipal circles.

However, this apparently satisfactory state of affairs should not be the signal for a lessened interest in the annual ratepayers' meeting which is to be held in the Empress theatre next Monday evening. The ratepayers should turn out to this meeting and acquaint themselves with what the council has been doing. An intelligent discussion of affairs in the interest of the town always has a wholesome effect.

"Many happy returns of the day" is the wish of the people of Canada for Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who, last Monday, celebrated his 75th birthday. That he is still in the harness and able to successfully conduct the affairs devolving upon his office in a vigorous manner, at this advanced age, not only speaks volumes for the care he took of himself in early life, but is a source of gratification to his admirers. For almost half a century now Sir Wilfrid has occupied a prominent position in Canadian affairs and although all Canadians do not see eye to eye with him, they all honor and respect him.

THE SCHOOL.

The decision of the school board to hold the annual meeting of the school district separately and in the school building, is, to our mind, a good one. We could never understand why, but there has always been a tendency on the part of ratepayers, to devote all their interest and criticism to the council and pay little or no attention to the business of our schools. To parents the school and its management should be of paramount importance. In a great many cases trustees have the handling of more money than the council, and, as a result, they have more chances of mismanagement, yet in many cases the average ratepayer could not tell you who the trustees are. This is a mistake. By this we do not mean to suggest that there is anything wrong with our own school or the trustees. On the contrary, we have reasons to believe that things are running smoothly and satisfactorily. But it is quite evident that there is an utter lack of interest in the school by the average ratepayer. In this regard the writer pleads guilty. It was only the other week, in response to an invitation from the principal to inspect the school that we learned what an excellently equipped school we have.

The trustees are holding the annual meeting of the district in the school next Friday evening, December 1st. If you have no kick to register or no suggestions to offer, take advantage of this opportunity anyway to inspect the building.

PROHIBITION SPREADING

Mr. Runciman's grave statement respecting the shortage of sugar, corn and other cereals in Great Britain, has had a stimulating effect upon the prohibition workers in the old country. As a result a bitter fight to make Great Britain "dry" for the period of the war has begun. Following Mr. Runciman's speech a group of members served notice in the house of commons that they would introduce shortly a motion to prohibit the manufacture of all intoxicating liquors. The notice declared that prohibition was necessary in view of conditions as shown by Mr. Runciman.

The old country press in dealing with the situation points out that a vast amount of the necessities of life are being absorbed into the production of liquor, and criticizes the powerful group in parliament allied with liquor interests.

A petition was recently submitted to the government by a thousand of the most distinguished persons in the Empire, asking that all liquor licenses be suspended for the duration of the war. This petition was signed by leaders in art, literature, finance and industry, and many army officials and generals.

There has been some speculation lately regarding the new rules for sending parcels to Canadian soldiers by friends here. At present it appears to be very difficult to get definite information as to just what the new rules mean. However, it is apparent that some changes are desirable, because some soldiers are getting an over abundance of parcels while others who are not so fortunate in having intimate friends here, are getting none. We take it that the changes contemplated are with a view of equalizing the gifts sent with the sending of private parcels to relatives, provided they pass the committee and are up to regulations.

THE MINISTER'S SON.

Quite often one hears people referring to minister's sons as "the horrible example." Because one of them happens to go wrong a great cry is made of it, but these same people seldom if ever refer to the ones who make good. The prominent part taken in the world's affairs by minister's sons recently is quite noticeable. In the recent presidential election in the States both candidates for the office were minister's sons. Grover Cleveland and Chester Arthur, two previous presidents, were also the sons of ministers. Not only in America, but in Europe, clergymen's sons have won many leading posts as statesmen, captains of industry, warriors, explorers, artists and authors.

And there is a good reason for this. Usually a minister is a man of many parts whose contact with all classes and conditions furnish good lessons for his family at home. As a rule neither he nor his family are handicapped by poverty or hindered by wealth. A fair sample of the average household in this regard, but with the additional advantage of brains; education and concern for the welfare of others.

It is now beginning to look as though something would happen soon in Greece. It is now beginning to sizzle and it will not be long till the fat will be in the fire.

That old country countess who planted 1,500 bottles of wine of rare vintage, in the ground, certainly had the courage of her convictions. However it is dollars to doughnuts that it was no sham plan the man who did the planting had.

Empire Calls For

Prayers of People

Listeners were surprised last Thursday morning to observe waits all over the city covered with huge official posters exhorting Englishmen to pray daily for their country; for their sailors and their soldiers. Admiral Beatty's words are displayed prominently.

"Until a religious revival takes place at home, so long will the war continue."

They are followed by General Sir William Robertson's message. "A serious determination on the part of the nation to seek divine help would undoubtedly furnish valuable help to our soldiers and sailors."

The poster ends with the following words, printed in large type:

"Will you join those who, every day at noon, and at family prayers at home pray for our country, our sailors and soldiers."

No More Infantry

Battalions For Canada

Since General Hughes has retired from office there have been a number of changes in the workings of the department. According to reports Ottawa there will be few, if any, more infantry battalions authorized. Authorities have come to the conclusion that the number of Canadian infantry regiments has reached a number which should not be increased.

The new policy will be to raise men to the reinforcement of regiments which are at the front, and which have gained glory in fighting. Every part of Canada is today represented in the front by such units. There is local pride in their performance.

For the popular column there has been substituted the appeal of the glorious regiment. It is believed this will bring the men to the recruitment office as effectively as did the old policy.

WILL USE HUDSON'S

—RAY ROUTE IN 1917.
The belief that the export of wheat from Western Canada to Europe by way of Hudson's Bay may be begun in the autumn of 1917 was expressed by officers of the Newfoundland sailing steamer Nascope, which has just returned from her last trip of the season to Port Nelson.

They said that the construction of a railway from Winnipeg to Port Nelson and the building of shipping terminals at that port warranted the expectation that the start of the use of the new port would be made before the close of navigation next autumn.

General News Notes

From Various Points

J. Carlson, Nobelesford, threatened 1500 bushels of wheat on 30 acres, an average of 60 bushels to acre.

Thomas Kelly, convicted of false pretences in connection with the contract for the parliament buildings, was sentenced to two and half years in the penitentiary by Judge Fendergast.

The Dutch government has notified its representative at Berlin to notify the German government that a painful impression has been produced in Holland by the deportation of Belgian civilians.

At Athens dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company says the German, Austro-Hungarian, Bulgarian and Turkish ministers to Greece have been informed by Vice Admiral Dufourne, commander of the allied fleet, that they must depart from Greece.

Lord Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian People's party, when interviewed in London recently, said: "We have no patience with the peace pretensions in Canada. Our chief anxiety at the present time is to win the war. When Great Britain thinks the hour has come to discuss peace terms then Canada will be perfectly satisfied and not till then."

Sir George Prentice, overseas minister of the Canadian forces, and Sir Thomas White, Canadian minister of finance, have crossed to France. They will visit Paris and the headquarters of the Canadian troops.

That Japan will remain faithful to the cause of the allies, no matter what the outcome of the war will be, was the assurance carried by the Marquis from the Mikado by the Marquis Mayeda, who arrived in New York on the steamship New York of the American line on route to England. "The Japanese are one of the wealthiest men in Japan, and holds the rank of captain in the imperial guard."

New Regulations For Soldier Parcels

Every British prisoner in enemy or neutral countries will receive from December 1st next, regular parcels of food, even if he has no relatives or "go-tothers."

The Central Prisoners of War Committee, having government authority, will issue the following regulations:

"A lonely prisoner," the secretary of the committee stated, "will be looked after by his Regimental Care Committee."

"No one will be allowed to send a food parcel except through a regimental committee or recognized 'aid' association, who will be responsible for the contents and packing of the parcels."

"It is hoped that the regimental committees will be able to arrange for relatives to go on sending their own parcels."

The gross weight of parcels of food (including bread) sent to an individual prisoner must not exceed 30 lb. per week, and it is hoped to send prisoner three parcels a fortnight, in place of one.

Persons wishing to adopt prisoners will be able to apply to an "Adopters' bureau."

The Parcels Department will be organized on the lines of a big general stores, dealing in provisions, clothing and medical comforts etc.

There will be two classes of customers—prisoners and subscribers. The stores will be managed by voluntary workers, who will be supervised by experts who are giving their services.

TEMPERANCE WOMAN

POURS WINE IN GROUND.

The action of Rosalind, Countess of Carlisle, in pouring into the ground about 1,500 bottles of wine as evidence of her strong temperance views, has aroused a storm of criticism in letters to the newspapers. The countess is president of the British Women's Temperance Association. She has been a lifelong abstainer and temperance advocate.

The wine was of old vintage and was stored in the cellars of Castle Howard, the Yorkshire estate of the countess. She inherited the cellars but is said to have kept the cellars sealed for over thirty years.

A decade ago the wine cellar was opened, a large hole was dug near the countess' mansion, and the caretaker poured the contents of the bottles into the ground.

The countess' action has been criticized on the ground that, while it is a constant with her principles, the wine would have been very acceptable in military hospitals for the use of convalescing soldiers.

Soon Be No Slackers

Says Hon. R. Rogers

Addressing the Canadian Club in Montreal last Monday, Hon. Robert Rogers emphasized the need for preparation on the part of everybody in the Dominion to meet after-the-war situation.

Mr. Rogers said that Canada had not yet done its entire share toward winning the war.

"Up until the present," he said, "we have been making our pledge to the motherland to the extent of some three-fifths of its face value. We must not make a defaulting default."

We have appointed a national service commission with full authority to register the man power of Canada. With this inventory we shall soon reach the ideal state where there can be no slackers because, when every male citizen is accounted for, no one can escape the pressure of public opinion calling upon each one who is not enlisted to bear his proper share of the national burden in performing the task which he is best fitted to fill, either by fighting or making munitions or contributing in some recognized way."

The military experts in the London newspapers call attention to the seriousness of the situation in Rumania, where the Germans and Austrians report they have reached. The German army has been driven from the Danube to Carlowitz, a point which threatens to flank the Rumanian army south of Vainca pass.

School Lands Bring Big Price at Sale

The largest sale of Dominion school lands ever held in the province of Alberta took place on Friday, Nov. 17, at the town of Sedgewick, by public auction with the government's land auctioneer, Mr. J. J. Carey of the Dominion Land Office.

The first section of the sale, which was held at 10 o'clock, was for 10,000 acres, and the second section was for 10,000 acres. The total area was 20,000 acres, and the total price was $1,000,000.

A parcel of barley, containing 1,200 bushels, shipped from Alberta, sold at Winnipeg for $1.08 1/2. Her husband, having a total of $1,367.10 for that parcel.

Paris newspapers say that Sub-Lieutenant Nungesser of the French aviation service has gone to England to try to buy a Zeppelin, in case there are more raids on London. Lieut. Nungesser has brought down 17 German aircraft, including every type of aeroplane.

A Reuter dispatch from French headquarters in Macedonia, dated the night of November 17th, describes the fighting in the direction of Monastir as proceeding in a most successful manner, and that the allied attack was kept up continuously and successfully, especially on the right.

TONEY'S GEOGRAPHY

Drew the Line at Nevers Rock

Across the "Pacific Ocean" Fred Toney, the big pitcher, is a "rock thrower." When he joined the Chicago club some years ago he admitted modestly that he did not throw a rock, but that he did throw a ball.

The team reached St. Louis they led him down and showed him the Mississippi.

He constructed a line of two long pieces of whip cord and a square of leather, selected a huge stone and proceeded to throw it across the Mississippi.

When the team reached New York the players showed him the Hudson. He gazed across it.

"Well, Fred," remarked Jimmy Sheppard, "can you throw across it?" "What?" said Toney, seriously, "that ain't no river; that is the Pacific Ocean."

"Ah, yeah, throw across with mail mail," he said. "Ain't he to get a stamp?"

He constructed a line of two long pieces of whip cord and a square of leather, selected a huge stone and proceeded to throw it across the Mississippi.

When the team reached New York the players showed him the Hudson. He gazed across it.

"Well, Fred," remarked Jimmy Sheppard, "can you throw across it?" "What?" said Toney, seriously, "that ain't no river; that is the Pacific Ocean."

Even in the deadliest moments, the wit of the men is to the front, writes a chaplain. At the battle of Neuve Chapelle, at the beginning of March, 1915, a bomb-thrower, rushing through the trenches, came upon a cellar full of Germans in hiding. Putting his head in at the door at the top of the cellar, he cried: "How many of you are there?" The answer came: "We are twelve."

This said Tommy, then he threw a bomb, "divide that among you," he roared to thirty-four words.

It is strange to see this remarkable example of wit in the posthumous moments of life. Right up to the front of the trenches one night a man was badly hit and his chain, at the risk of his life, rushed out to his help.

"Get on my back, mate, and I will carry you in," only to be met with: "Not damned likely! I shall be shot in the back and you will get the V.C."

Further illustration of this most remarkable military production occurs in the following incident: A friend of mine, who has himself been twice wounded, on the last occasion of injury was in the trenches, when upon him came a German soldier, and he was hit in the wrist. Clapping his hand upon his forehead he exclaimed: "Oh, I have been waiting for this since last August. Then, perhaps, his life had been his pocket, he pulled out a month arm and played, "Hone, Sweet Hone."

Who but an English Tommy could, or would, do that.

There is sometimes a weird sense of disproportion revealed, as in the case of a Highland soldier who was wounded by a chaplain at a base hospital, and who remarked to his friend: "I don't know what you think of the Jack Johnsons?" They put the fear of God into their heart, don't they?" "Aye, sir, they do; but I hope it will soon be a hard surface, and will not scold."

FACTORS OF SUCCESS IN FRUIT GROWING

Honest Marketing is Vital—Three C's—Cleanliness—Consistency—Cautiousness—Some Reform

P. J. Carey of the Dominion Fruit Division writes from Toronto, as follows: Some packers who have had bad trading will pack a fraudulent pack, and it is not only the packer who is at fault, but the grower who is responsible for the situation. Where it is fairly evident that a violation has occurred through a lack of knowledge of the law, the inspectors are instructed to send the packer right and give him another chance. The Dominion Fruit Commission has taken strong grounds on all cases of the over-weighing of packages, and has given sharp instructions to stamp out this trouble by presenting in every case where the evidence will warrant it.

There are three grades of violators. The first is the slovenly fellow who never does anything right, for whom there is but little hope. The inspectors are instructed to send him to the first grade of violators. The second grade there are many varieties. There is the "want to be good" sort of a fellow who is at the top of the list of violators, on his wife. Some justify a little about packing by saying that the inspectors are the ones who are out to do you, anyway, and it is better to do them first. From this grade or middle class the inspectors make good good counts when they are shown where their actions lead.

Ignorance To Blame.
The third grade is the "out-and-out" fellow who has no love for the law, and who is not at all interested in anything but good fruit to put up, and to sell at the highest price. There are not few of this latter class, and, for that matter, the number of all classes of faulty packers is a small percentage of our growers, and is steadily growing less.

It is surprising that a large percentage of packers are not trained in the best method of placing fruit in baskets. We have seen many good basket packers, and we also have many who make a very rough job of it. Some blame the basket, but it would seem that the basket does not do much harm, now that so many are following the practice of using the bagged basket.

The grading of peaches and other fruit is a very important part of the proper packing. It insured honesty of packing by removing the cause. It is the man to whom money is no object just what he wants, and he is ready to do anything for it. It gives to the men less fortunate a grade, the man who is within the grade, it does away with the necessity of grading, and the man who is within the same basket, and enables the packer to do better work. The inspector should much trouble in graded basket fruit.

Pleasing the Consumer.
If there is one thing more than another with which the growers can be blamed it is their lack of effort to please the consumer. Perhaps less than fifty per cent. of those engaged in fruit growing as a business have any thought for the future standing of their shipments on the market or make any attempt to build up a reputation by making a special effort to please the consumer. Pleasing the customer after all is a key to the whole situation. It is the impression the consumer has of the last package of fruit used that does the ruling as to whether he wants another package. The difference between a good and bad impression may mean the difference between success and failure to the grower.

LOSSES ON MACHINERY

Contractors Careless in Trying—Two Big Dangers

The Canadian Engineer says: We are afraid that engineers are not seeing contractors "do not" when purchasing equipment, give due attention to the matter of depreciation. Depreciation is made up of two factors—use and actual deterioration—each important as the other. Furthermore, these two elements cannot be separated, as the latter bears a direct relation to the volume of work done by the machine, but so much relationship is borne by the former.

For example, if a concrete mixer is driven to its utmost capacity day and night its liability to become out of date is not increased. On the other hand, its life is shortened.

It is a mistake to think of depreciation as a definite sum to be paid to defects as soon as they show themselves. The reworking of wearing parts is just as much a depreciation of wear—as well as careful handling and use. Depreciation on a machine will be very small, provided the tool is maintained at a high efficiency.

Another matter which calls for care in purchasing machinery is the question of a tool being bought to-day which may be superseded to-morrow. This should be taken into account when the subject of depreciation is under consideration. It may not have an effective life of more than a few years, and it may be very small, provided the tool is maintained at a high efficiency.

Repainting Exterior Woodwork
Roofers' woodwork painted the first time fails to show as good and last as long as when it is repainted. It is not until after two years' wear, however, that the difference is noticeable. The surface that has become dry and cracked, and the paint has become brittle and is ready to peel off. The chalking of whitened paint is no disadvantage for in this condition it will take the new paint better than a hard surface, and will not scold.
